DETAILED ACTION

Status

Claims 1-33,37-65 and 71-99 are pending

Response to Arguments

The Applicants arguments filed on April 7, 2005 have been fully considered.

The Examiner states that the allowable feature of Claim 1 is the unique seal of certification, Claim 78 does not have this feature, and therefore is not allowed. The examiner apologized for this oversight, as that in the interview on February 22 it was stated that all claims were allowable. The Examiner further states that if the feature of "unique seal of certification" were to be amended into claim 78, the claim would be allowable. The Examiner would like to request a further telephonic interview in order to expedite case prosecution.

See following rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 78 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Padgett et al (US Patent 6,167,518) in view of Ross

As per claim 78,

Kuroda et al. ('448) discloses a method comprising;

certifying a plurality of entities (Column 6, lines 43-50)

Storing certification data for each of the plurality of online entities in a database (Column 6, lines 27-35 [stores transaction information in a database])

Selectively displaying media objects to present seals of certification for the entities in accordance with certification data (Column 7, lines 31-44 [digital signature is affixed to document])

Although Kuroda does not explicitly state that the entities are online, it would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to employ an online method in order to realize a larger user base.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-33,37-65 and 71-77 are allowed over the prior art record.

Claims 79-99 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims and complying with double patenting statutes.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

Examiners note: Examiner has cited particular columns and line numbers in the references as applied to the claims above for the convenience of the applicant. Although the specified citations are representative of the teachings of the art and are applied to the specific limitations within the individual claim, other passages and figures may apply as well. It is respectfully requested from the applicant in preparing responses, to fully consider the references in entirety as potentially teaching all or part of the claimed invention, as well as the context of the passage as taught by the prior art or disclosed by the examiner.
